

July 19, 2006

To Whom It May Concern:

Nada Saab was employed as an adjunct instructor in chemistry at the Orchard Ridge Campus of Oakland Community College during the 2005-2006 academic year. She taught several sections of Chemistry 2 (CHE-1520).

Based on student evaluations and performance I am confident she taught with efficacy and efficiency. Students consistently noted Nada conducted lab in a clear, meaningful and practical manner. Many students who planned to continue in chemistry claimed they were well-prepared for further pursuit. Nada was also reviewed classroom by one of our full-time faculty; she received a strong evaluation in all areas.

I, therefore, give Nada my recommendation as she furthers her work in education—in my opinion she will continue to pursue excellence as a teacher. If I can provide additional assistance, please contact me at (248) 522-3659.

Sincerely,

Dave E. Stoddard, Professor of Physics and Astronomy
Department of Physical Sciences