To Whom It May Concern,

I just wanted to take a moment to comment on how pleased I am with the language program that is helping two of my best students be as successful as they are capable of. Maryam and Noor Hussein have benefited greatly from this program through the use of their translator on a weekly basis. They are very bright, very capable young ladies, but I fear that without this program they would not have the opportunity to be as successful due to their language barrier. I have seen this program first hand work for these students. I would continue to support this program for any students that it might benefit, without question.

Sincerely,

Jason Patchett
